N. M. BOOTH DEAD.

Oldest Telegrapher in United States.

Built First Telegraph Line From Louisville to Owensboro

BORN IN JEFFERSON COUNTY.

Evanville, Ind., April 10.—N. M. Booth, aged 86 years, said to be the oldest telegrapher in the United States, died at his home at 405 Chandler avenue Friday noon. In the language of the "boys," who he instructed in the telegraph world, he answered "30," the operator's signal signifying the end.

Mr. Booth's end was peaceful, following weeks of illness. In his declining days his eyesight was affected, yet he compiled a book of memoirs which he treasured highly.

Mr. Booth was born in Louisville, Ky., and became a telegrapher there in 1849. He floated on the Ohio for a time, when he formed a stock company and built a telegraph line from Louisville, via Owensboro and Evansville, to Shawneetown, Ill. He had his main office on Water street, and was the steamboat business in its height. His line was practically forced out of business by the Western Union company in 1871, when he gave up his private venture and took the place of manager of the Western Union office here. This position he held until 1884, when he reached the age of 62 years and retired.

Mr. Booth was a man of forceful character, virile mentally and energetic in pushing business. He was highly regarded by the Western Union officials and hundreds of men in the profession and other walks of life.

Mr. Booth was married in 1855 to Miss Mary Porter of Bardonia, Ky. She survives him with the following children: Norborne M., of the Western Union office here; William and Galt Booth, Mrs. Fannie Covert of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Nannie Teller of Kansas City, Mo.; and Misses Louise and Kate Booth of Evansville. News of his death was flashed over the telegraph wires to all parts of the country yesterday and brought expressions of regret from the "boys" everywhere at the keys.

Funeral services for the deceased were held Monday morning at 10 o'clock from the late residence, Rev. W. Reid Cross of St. Paul's Episcopal church, officiating.

COMMERCIAL

CONVENTION.

Twenty-eight counties have already responded to the call sent out for a commercial convention to be held in Louisville April 23, and additional ones are sending in their appointments daily. More than a hundred delegates have been named, and it is certain that the attendance will be large. Commercial bodies and county judges are making the appointments.

Gov. Willson has accepted an invitation to be present and speak, and others on the program are Attorney General James Breathitt and Senator Thomas A. Combs, of Lexington, who will talk of tax reform; J. W. Porter, of Lexington, whose subject is the State Development Association; Prof. J. W. McConathy, of Louisville, who will speak of county museum clubs; J. B. Atkinson, of Earlinton, who is to speak on forestry; and Dr. J. N. McCormack, of Bowling Green, who will discuss the State health.

There will be a morning and an afternoon session at the Seilbach and a banquet in the evening, tendered to the delegates by the Louisville Commercial Club, under whose auspices the convention is being arranged. Each delegate will make a short talk on the needs and resources of his county.

Judge Moorman has appointed the following delegates from this county: Hon. John P. Haswell, Jr., Roy E. Moorman, of Hardinsburg, and Jno. D. Sabage, of Cloverport.

Hancock And Meade Assessments.

Frankfort, Ky., April 10.—The state board of equalization today took final action as to the assessments of property in the counties of Hancock and Meade. If ordered a raise of two per cent. on farm land and personally of Hancock and a raise of five per cent. on similar property of Meade.

SINGING MOUSE AT STEPHENSPORT.

Attracting Attention of Breckenridge County People.

OWNED BY JUDGE JOHN ADAIR.

"Hoop La! Hoop La! Hear-a de Singing Mouse? Ten cents! One Dime!"

The above announcement may very soon be placed upon the bill boards advertising a drawing card for Louisville's "White City" or Cincinnati's "Chester" park, also be the means of drawing in barrels of newly coined dimes for Judge Adair of the Stephenson Two States Bank, who is the sole owner of the big show. This Adair singing mouse bids fair to place beyond the gate the educated floss imported last year from Germany and take precedence above every creeping thing under the sun as a novel park and side show feature. This little singing mouse which has been christened "Adair" sings and chirps out little notes much like birds of the air. At the back of its master, "Adair" will put forth as sweet a lullaby as a mother ever sang to her babe. Classics are rendered in "Adair's" own native style but rag-time is barred from his repertoire. Judge Adair however, frequently has trouble in securing a performance. The little mouse displays his talent better and more easily after nibbling on small bits of cheese. Some times he retires to his hole and remains for an hour or more; then darts back into his court and renders a selection. He performs better when only a few auditors are about and stillness prevails.

"Adair" was discovered in Hancock county by Judge Adair at the home of a rural relative. Wonderful stories were told of the mouse's peculiar ability—so wonderful indeed that Judge Adair announced that he believed in the creed of folk living West of the Mississippi and that he must be shown before he would believe. The little mouse was brought forth and tending he did, Judge Adair, was really so wonderful that he became captivated, gathered it up and fetched it to Stephenson, gave one public performance in his bank to a number of friends and since then he has been besieged with hungry sight-seers. This mouse is on exhibition and may be seen for the mere asking. "Adair" is of normal size and does not differ in any way from the ordinary mouse save his musical abilities.

Judge Adair gives the little fellow the closest attention possible, and in him Judge believes he has a money-making proposition. So soon as the news spread agents from all the shows and amusement parks in the country will no doubt be on the judge's trail seeking public performance rights.

STEPHENSPORT.

That singing mouse! Have you heard it?

Schopp's big clearance sale is proving a big success. Buyers are flocking in from all parts and taking home stacks of goods. Mr. Schopp says it pays to advertise.

Mrs. G. W. Payne's display of new spring millinery is right in line with all the best and latest things in spring hats. Her opening Thursday, April 15, will show her line in all its beauty.

A full new stock of spring dry goods at G. W. Payne's.

G. W. Payne pays highest market price for butter, eggs and chickens.

Dr. Nevitt went to Ekron Saturday.

Capt. Merritt launched a new launch over at Ekron Saturday.

That singing mouse is the wonder of the age.

D. C. Heron of Irvington, was here Saturday representing a tobacco house.

Mrs. Payne will exchange hats for butter, eggs and chickens.

A beautiful line of spring dress goods at G. W. Payne's.

Mrs. G. W. Payne has displayed beautiful fashions in her purchases of spring millinery. Her selections are the new set things in trimmed and odd shaped hats, beautiful Flowers, Fruits and Foliage, Wings, Quills and fancy Feather Novelties. Her prices are not high, but very reasonable.

Wanted—A good speller.—Adair.

RESIDENCE BURNED.

Mrs. Isabelle Brown who lives on the Brandenburg and Flint Island road near Rhodella, lost her residence and all her household goods by fire last Friday night. Loss $800, fully covered by insurance in the Farmers Mutual Insurance Company.

COMING DIRECT TO CLOVERPORT

A Mandate Handed Down From Monongahela Consolidated Coal & Coke Co.

CLOVERPORT TO BE TERMINAL

In the building of the new railroad from Madisonville and Hartford to make the connections with the branch about a mile above Fordville, it was first decided to use the branch route via Irvington. Of course this route was more suitable for the Henderson Route, as it had a track already laid, but it seems that the Henderson Route and the Madisonville Route has but little say. A high official of the Consolidated Coal & Coke Co., said to a News representative. "This combine I represent owns every acre of coal land in Kentucky. Our nearest point for distribution on the Madisonville and Hartford line will be Cloverport, as it has deep water all the year round. This coal field is now open and will be controlled by a Syndicate. It is the interest of all our people to have the road to come through over the old Victoria route to Cloverport, for we can get deep water navigation all the year round. Our coal will go direct to the South, as the Combine owns every boat in the line, and will load our steamers at Cloverport, employing over 200 men to look after our interest."

"The Sprague on her last trip had a special trip. She had 58 barges and covered six acres, 1,400,000 bushels of coal, and if placed in cars holding 50 tons each would have taken 1,300 cars to hold it. And if placed on a track of 25 cars to a train and 50 tons to a car it would take 52 locomotives to haul the goods. So you see by coming direct to Cloverport over the old route we can save over 10 miles—and as the Combine owns this territory, you see we are going to pull to our own interest."

BANKER PARRISH GETS FIVE YEARS

Jury Finds Owensboro Banker Guilty and Sentences Him to Five Years in the Penitentiary.

The second trial of James H. Parrish, the Owensboro banker, came to a close Thursday morning at Hovesville, when the jury returned a verdict of guilty after deliberating two hours and thirty minutes. The trial lasted ten days. Parrish was tried upon the charge of receiving deposits at his bank when he knew it was insolvent. The case was hard fought. Parrish was surrounded by his wife, brothers and sisters when the jury reported and he seemed the least concerned of all when the verdict was read. A motion was promptly made for a new trial and special judge Kelley announced that he would hear the arguments later. Parrish is now in jail at Havesville.

THE HERNDON SALE.

A big crowd attended Jesse M. Herndon's sale near Irvington last Monday. Everything brought good prices with the exception of the cattle. The bidding was not spirited or lively, and with all of Dave Herndon's enthusiasm and loud talking he couldn't get any bidders to move up. They were finally knocked off to Ben Jackson at $200 for 12 head. Farm implements brought good prices. Corn sold at 80 cents; sheep at $8.50 to $9.75 a head, lambs included; horses, mules and hogs the bidding was lively and prices soared upward.

The sale all around was a success, and very satisfactory to Mr. Herndon.

Mr. Herndon certainly had a nice home and farm, well kept and improved with many comforts, so seldom seen about farms. Mr. Herndon will move to Irvington for the present.

Mr. King who bought the farm is well pleased with his purchase and will move in about May 1.

Notice.

All members of the Methodist church are requested to be present at the opening service of the revival next Sunday morning.

The most highly refined and healthful of baking powders. Its constant use in almost every American household, its sales all over the world, attest its wonderful popularity and usefulness.

FISCAL COURT NOTES.

The Fiscal Court met Tuesday, April 6, all the members present, for a four day session. Squire Drury being absent the last two days.

The report filed by J. V. St. Clair, supervisor of roads and bridges, recommends replacing, repairing, painting and erecting bridges in the county to the estimated cost of $10,007. The new bridges recommended are on Sinking Creek near Webster, at a cost of $2,000, and one at shot Pouch, $400. The bridge at Glenadeine, about rotted down, is recommended as not needed.

A levy of 15 cents on the $1.00 and a poll tax of $1.00 was made for school purposes, as recommended by the Board of Education. The people within Cloverport Graded School District, are exempt from this tax, they already taxing themselves in excess of this amount for school purposes.

Louis Bennett Moremen returned Sunday from Brandenburg after spending a few days with his grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Moremen.

Miss Mary Cornwell has returned after spending the Easter holidays, in Louisville, the guest of her sister, Mrs. R. E. Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony King, of Holt, and Miss McHenry, of Kirk, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. King.

Mrs. J. H. Conly and little son, Hugh, expect to leave this week for Birmingham, Alabama, after being the guest of her sister, Mrs. Nora Board.

H. B. Hend made a trip to Louisville Thursday.

Mr. T. S. Pool has moved to Beattyville, Indiana, where he will make his future home. Mrs. Pool and children will follow later, after a visit to relatives at Hardinsburg.

Last Friday and Saturday will long be remembered by those who attended the military opening of Lyon's Dry Goods Co., conducted by Miss Nannie Childs and Miss Laura Hale, adjoining R. M. Jolly's store. The large and pretty display of pattern hats and ready-to-wear hats were indeed attractive and inviting.

On Tuesday afternoon of last week Mrs. H. H. Kemper entertained in a very pleasing manner, in honor of her charming guest, Mrs. M. M. Hardwell. The pretty and attractive home was decorated in evergreens, potted plants and cut flowers. "Donninos Whist" was played progressively and just after that Mrs. Bardwell honored us with a number of selections of her voice, which was greatly enjoyed by all. Delightful refreshments, in the way of ices, were served. Those who accepted Mrs. Kemper's hospitality were: Mesdames L. B. Moremen, C. L. Chamberlain, L. H. Jolly, W. J. Piggott, R. W. Graves and E. H. Jolly; Misses Elsie Munford, Nellie Smith, Eva and Mabel McGlothlin, Wills Drury, Mary Peyton and Evelyn Herndon.

The Musical given under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of the Baptist church Saturday evening was quite a success both socially and financially. While standing room was not sold, yet there was quite a nice house and what was lacking in number was compensated in quality; there being in the audience music lovers from this and adjoining communities.

The music rendered by Mr. Hazzard was very high-class and highly appreciated. Mrs. Bardwell's solos were most enjoyable; not often are we favored with such artistic skill as her singing portrayed. The anthems rendered by the choir were high-class and thoroughly appreciated, especially the bass solo by Mr. Murray and the tenor solo by Mr. Heron.

Miss Nannie Childs would like for you to call and see her new spring hats. "Oh! they are exquisite," say those who have taken a look at Miss Nannie Childs' display of new spring hats.

The cut-rate drugstore for low prices on drugs.

Miss Laura Hale has a beautiful display of spring millinery at her new stand next door to R. M. Jolly.

CHAPTER XVIII.

HOPE LANGDON'S HOUR OF TRIUMPH

AINES sat at a table in the reception room, across from Hope Georgia, and his gratitude for her battle in his favor mingled with a realization of qualities in this young lady that he had never before noticed. Probably he did not know that what he had really seen in her that day and that evening was the sudden transition from girlhood to womanhood, her casting aside of thoughtless, irresponsible youth and the shouldering of the responsibilities of the grown woman who would do her share in the world's work.

He stared across in astonishment at this slip of a girl who had outwitted two resourceful men and an older sister of un-questioned abilities.

"I do not rec- in the world's work," he said finally.

"Perhaps you never looked at me before," she suggested archly, feeling instinctively that this was her hour; that the man she loved was at this moment thinking more of her than of anything else in the world.

Haines made a gesture of regret.

"That must be it," he agreed. Then he leaned forward eagerly. "But I'm looking at you now, and I like looking at you. I like what you've done for me."

"Oh, that was nothing, Mr. Haines," she exclaimed simply, her laughter telling her of her away over the man.

"Nothing?" he exclaimed. "Well, it's more than any one ever did for me before. I've known lots of girls."

"I don't doubt that, Mr. Haines," Hope interjected, with a light laugh.

"Yes, I say I've known lots of girls, but there's never been one who showed herself such a true friend as you have been. There's never been any one who believed in me like you when I was practically down and out."

"Perhaps you've never been down and out before, Mr. Haines, so they never had a chance to show whether they believed in you or not."

"That may be one reason," he answered. "I wonder why your sister Carolina did not believe in me."

"You were quite kind of her, weren't you?" the girl began, then stopped and turned away her head.

Haines gazed curiously at Hope.

"I was, yes. I even thought I loved her, but I soon saw my mistake. It wasn't love. It was only a kind of—"

Suddenly paused. But Haines shot a swift glance at the girl.

"What wonderful hair you have, Miss Hope."

The girl smiled invitingly.

"Thank me," he declared earnestly. "I know so. I never noticed it before, but I guess lots of fellows down in Mississippi have."

"Hope's tantalizing smile worried him. 'I hope you are not secretly engaged too?' he exclaimed."

"No, oh, no," she answered quickly before she thought.

"Or in love?" he asked seriously.

Haines had stood up and was now leaning over the table. He realized the difference between the feeling he had had for Carolina and the tender emotion that thrilled him as he thought of the sweet girl before him. This time he knew he was not mistaken. He knew that he truly loved Hope Langdon.

"Or in love?" he asked again, anxious at her silence.

Hope looked at him slowly. A faint blush flamed her face.

"Oh, don't let's talk about me," she exclaimed.

"That I want to talk about you," he cried. "I don't want to talk about anything else. I must talk about you, and when nobody else believed. You've fought for me when everybody else was fighting against me. You've shown that you think I'm honest and worthy of a woman's faith. You fought your own family for me. Nobody has ever done for me what you have, and—"

"Ho, fattered, full of what he was about to say."

"And you're grateful," she ended. He looked her squarely in the eyes as though to fathom her thoughts.

"I want you—want you I never wanted anything or anybody before, and I tell you I'm going to have you. Do you hear?"

Hope could not hide her agitation. The light in her eyes showed she was all a woman.

"Oh, nothing in the world could happen as quickly as that, Mr. Haines," she protested, with her last attempt at archness.

"Nothing could," he threatened. "I'll show you."

He advanced quickly around the table, but the girl darted just beyond his grasp. Then she paused—and her lover gazed after her in amazement.

"Hope, my dear; you are my own," was his last cry as he bent over to kiss the lips that were not refused him.

Hope released herself from his fervent grasp.

"I love you, I love you," she said fondly. "I believe in you, and I never must too. You've got to straighten this tangle out now, for my sake as well as your own. Father will listen."

"I'll try all so, my dear," he said. "I can hardly understand it," began Haines slowly as he held the girl's hands.

Unknown to both, the door leading from the hall had opened to admit Senator Langdon into the lower end of the room. Surprised at the sight of the couple, so seriously intent on each other, he made a sudden gesture of anger, then, apparently changing his mind, advanced toward them.

"I tell you I want to see you," he said to Haines. "I hope you'll be brief. I have very little time to spare from my guests."

Hope hesitated, flattered almost by the interruption. The man nervously stepped forward.

"I shan't take much of your time, Senator Langdon," he said. "There has been a misunderstanding, a terrible mistake. I am sure I can convince you."

Senator Langdon hesitated doubtfully, half turned toward Carolina. Randolph and Norton, who had followed him, and again faced Haines.

Hope pressed her father's arm and looked up into his face entreatingly. Randolph, observing this, quickly stepped close to the senator's side, saying, "I can settle with this Mr. Haines for you."

Waving his son aside, the senator finally spoke.

"I reckon there's been too many attempts to my landings and settling my affairs, Randolph," he said. "I think for a change I'll settle a few of my own. All on children go out and leave me here with Mr. Haines."

CHAPTER XIX.
SENATOR LANGDON LEARNS THE TRUTH.

WHEN they were alone Haines told the senator and spoke determinedly.

"They told you I was not running straight," he said.

"No, no, no," he answered, and the lines about his mouth deepened.

"Yes."

But Haines stiffened at the word. Every muscle in his body seemed to become rigid as he mentally rowed that he would retaliate against his betrayers if it cost him his life to do so.

"But he never said a word of the sort," he said. "He only told me that he was not running straight."

"He told me you weren't running straight," said Haines deliberately.

"Now, neither one of us has been crooked, but since you have been, and this was the plan to keep us apart."

"Norton told me you were speculating in Alcatraz land," said Langdon.

"And Norton told me the same of you," retorted Bud.

The senator's face grew very serious.

"But my daughter told me that Carolina Langdon, confirmed Norton's story."

Haines here faced the most difficult part of his interview. He hardly knew how to answer. His mind rebelled against placing any blame on a woman. He revolted at the thought of rubbing a father's faith in his daughter's honesty, especially when that father was the man he most admired, a man for whom he had genuine, deep respect after long. But it was necessary that he should be spoken.

"I hate to tell you, sir," he said in a low, unctuous tone, "that it was your daughter Carolina who made me believe that she was about you and vouched for by your son Randolph."

Langdon started back, aghast. His words at Haines and knew that he spoke the truth. Then his white head sank pathetically. Tears welled into the eyes of the planter, and this sturdy old fighting man dropped weakly into a chair, sobbing convulsively, broken in spirit and wearied in body.

At length Haines spoke to his stricken chief.

"I know it hurts," he said. "It hurt me to have to say it. Don't believe it until you get it out of Norton, but then you must do something."

Langdon came to his feet, nipping his cheeks. But there was no weakness in him now. Yes, he would do something. He would go after the thieves that he had turned his own flesh and blood against him and root them all out.

"Oh, I'll do something," he said grimly. "I'm going to make up for lost time. Of course Norton is speculating. Who's behind him?"

"Stevens and Peabody, I'm positive," answered Haines, "and behind them is Standard Bank."

"What," exclaimed Langdon, "Stevens is a swindle like this? Are you sure? How do you know?"

"A Gulf City man who couldn't carry his liquor gave me some news, and I worked Norton into telling some more," answered the secretary. "Where is Peabody?"

"He's here now."

"Then he hasn't got my letter yet. I sent him a note and signed your name, senator, to the effect that the Gulf City claims have been brought before you so strongly that you might vote for Gulf City."

Langdon was amazed.

"You sent that note," he exclaimed, "when you know Alcatraz is the only proper place and Gulf City is a mud bank?"

"The newspaper man smiled."

"Of course," he agreed, "but I had to get a rise out of Peabody. This will show where he stands."

"Oh," said Langdon, "I understand. A servant entered with a note."

"For Senator Peabody, sir, marked 'Urgent.' The messenger's been hunting him for some hours."

Langdon looked shrewdly at Bud, then turned to the servant.

"Show up at the desk," he said. "You keep that note until I ring for you, then bring it to Senator Peabody. Understand? No matter how urgent it's marked."

The man bowed.

"Yes."

"Now tell Mr. Norton, Miss Langdon and Mr. Randolph to come here."

The senator turned back to his secretary.

"I expect I'm going to be pretty busy the rest of the evening. Bud, so in case I forget to mention it again remember to show up at your old desk in the morning."

"I will. Thank you, sir."

"You sent for me, senator," said Norton, approaching with his two dupes.

"You are interested in Alcatraz land," the senator angrily charged.

"I am, sir," he said.

"You told Mr. Haines that I was interested in Alcatraz land."

"The senator hesitated and the senator broke in on him in rage.

"Speak out, man! Tell the truth, if you can."

"I admitted the congressman finally."

"Was there any particular reason for your not telling the truth?" demanded the senator, breathing fire.

"I told the truth," replied Norton. "You are interested in them."

"For an instant Langdon seemed about to speak toward him, then he controlled himself."

"I didn't know it," he said.

"You have several things to learn, senator," declared the congressman.

"I have things to learn and things to teach," he said. "But go on. What I'm interested in."

"You are interested, senator," replied the trickster, making his big play, "through your son Randolph, who invested $50,000 of your money in Alcatraz land, and through your daughter, Miss Carolina, who, acting on my advice, has put her own money—$25,000—in Alcatraz land also."

For a moment Langdon was speechless. It was too much at first for the honest old southerner to comprehend.

"You mean," he gasped at last, "that you induced a boy to put $50,000 in Alcatraz land when you knew I had to vote on the bill? And you even let my daughter put her money in the scheme?"

"Of course I did. It was a splendid chance, and I let your son in for friendship and your daughter because she likes doing a boy to put $50,000 in Alcatraz land when you knew I had to vote on the bill? And you even let my daughter put her money in the scheme?"

"What! You have my daughter's promise to marry you?"

"She didn't admit it herself."

"Then I reckon here's where I lose a prospective son-in-law," sneered Langdon. "But that's unimportant. Now a word about the bill behind you."

"I must decline to answer that," Langdon looked at him sternly.

"Very well," he said. "You are too anxious to count. I'll find out for myself. Now you go to my study and wait (Continued on Page Seven.)"

GASOLINE BOAT

CRAZE ON.

Interesting Boat News--Yachts And Launches Being Equipped For Service And Pleasure.

SEVERAL FOLKS GETTING BOATS

The Gasoline Boat Craze has struck Cloverport this Spring and struck it big.

No more will Mr. Turtle be allowed to take his quiet nap and the festive catfish will have to seek the deep waters, for the wheels of the new craft that grace the boom of the Ohio from this port will keep the water churned into a foam. The Cloverport Foundry & Machine Co. is now equipping a new dry dock to be installed at the lower wharf, which will be ample to dry dock any of the Gasoline Craft for repair.

Allen Pierce will have a new boat this season. The craft will be 25 feet long and will be equipped with an 8 H.P. engine. The hull is now ready for the engine and in a few weeks she will be placed in commission.

o o o

P. D. Plank has a new 16 ft. hull, built in Cincinnati and will have a 3 H. P. engine. She will be ready for the water in a few days.

o o o

Lafe Behen is building him a new hull and will have a 6 H. P. engine on his new craft. He too, like the rest, is pushing his boat along so as to have her ready for the season's first run.

o o o

Ira Behen will content himself with his old hull but will have a new engine in his boat. She will be faster.

o o o

Dave Phelps will not only run his old boat but is going to build a 30 ft. hull and will push her along with an 18 H. P. engine. She will be one of the fastest crafts in port. Both of his other boats are being over-hauled and will be in good fix for the season.

o o o

Fred Fraize is having the "Dart" put in good repair and she is about ready to take the water again.

o o o

Dr. Lightfoot is having his boat placed in repairs. Late last season she was installed with a new engine and she will be in splendid fix for this season.

o o o

The "Eva", Capt. Marion Weatherholt in command, will be placed in commission this week. She has been entirely over-hauled and will still make it hot for the boys that want to run past her.

o o o

Jesse Keys will have a 20 ft. launch. She will be equipped with a 3 H. P. engine and will soon be completed.

o o o

Wick DeHaven will buy a 20 ft. steel hull and equip her for speed. She will be ready for the Spring season.

o o o

Elmer Noble has a 3 H. P. engine in his boat, "Red Wing."

o o o

The Cloverport Foundry & Machine Shop will equip the "Blue Wing", "Doctor" and "Jane" with new engines. The hulls are now in Clover creek. They will be for sale.

o o o

Dr. Lightfoot, Fred Fraize and Will Pate will equip the pretty new model hull, now lying in the creek, with a 32 H. P. engine. She is 30 ft. long and when equipped will be expected to go some.

o o o

The "Florence" is a new water craft that is being pulled here. She is 10 1/2 ft. wide, 56 ft. long and was built by the Pettit Bros., of Rome. She is having a 25 H. P. engine installed on her at the ship yard. She will be used for towing.

o o o

Capt. T. F. Sawyer has had the "Red Hen", the craft he traded for last fall, now placed in good shape. A new coat paint will soon be put on and she will be ready for active business. Capt. Sawyer will also do some boat building this year.

o o o

Don't fish have a time a dogging.

Why not organize a Boat Club. The advent of the gasoline engine has opened a wide field of pleasure and business. In the upper bends between here and Louisville the fishermen run his nets in a gasoline craft and the farmer takes his produce to town in one.

They say Bill Pate has gone crazy on gasoline boats. When a test jury was selected, with Dr. Lightfoot, Fred Fraize, Ira and Lafe Behen, Allen Pierce, Dave Phelps and Marion Weatherholt to try him. The Judge ordered them all confined for the same offense.

SARDOU AND THE SPIRIT.

The Dramatist Wrote and Drew Pictures While "Under Control."

Before he made his reputation by writing plays Victor Sardou, the French dramatist, who was deeply interested in spiritualism, had a remarkable experience in taking dictation. He had been interested in occult phenomena, and by chance he came into communication with a spirit personality who signed himself "Bernard Palissy." Mr. Sardou told the story of his experiences in an article entitled "Only the Blindly Ignorant Scorn" in the Delineateur. He said:

"One day in my room with two friends I thought I would make the little table where we had taken our coffee run about the room, as I had often done when alone. Without saying anything I put my hand on the table, but it would not budge. I tried in vain all the time they were there to make it move, but to no avail. As soon as they were gone I could make it do what I pleased, even jump clear off the floor. So I took up my pencil and asked, 'What would you not make the table move while my friends were here?' The hand which held the pencil wrote, 'They were too stupid.'"

Shortly after this I was sitting by my table one day, dreaming, not making any effort to do anything in particular. All of a sudden my hand began to work on the paper before me with a rapidity and precision which astonished me. And it kept this up for close to two hours. The result was a fantastic piece of work drawn in delicate lines, fine almost as a spider's web, and at the bottom a signature—'Bernard Palissy.' 'What is it?' I asked.

"And my automatic hand wrote, 'The house of Swedenborg, on the planet Jupiter.' This was considered as most curious by all my friends, who knew that personally I had no aptitude for drawing. A plate was prepared, and I was given an etching tool. The result, in the same order of design, was a more elaborate piece of work, this time extremely combined out of all sorts of musical terms, clefs, notes, bars, and so on, and the whole was designated as the house of Swedenborg, also on Jupiter, and the whole was again signed 'Palissy.' In fact, Bernard Palissy became my almost constant companion from this on, like my second self.

THE "GHOST LOG."

A Test by Which May Be Discerned the Digital Effluvia.

There is an experiment, first made by Dr. J. Maxwell, advocate general of the court of appeals in Paris, a distinguished magistrate and physician, which may be repeated in any drawing room.

Place a screen covered with a dark colored cloth in front of a window so that the light falls full upon it. Between the window and the screen put the subject of your experiment. Let him hold his hands, palms toward the breast, finger tips touching, in such a position that they are projected against the dark background of the screen. Then bid him slowly separate his hands, keeping the fingers extended widely, standing behind him you will observe a sort of bluish gray cloud which seems to unite one hand to the other. Eight people out of ten will see this, says Vance Thompson in Hampton's Magazine. In 200 tests made by Dr. Maxwell personally 250 folk of one sex and the other discerned the digital effluvia; about 5 per cent saw it thinned a decided blue, two saw it yellow in tone, and in one instance the spectator saw it of a reddish hue. The experiment succeeds best in a warm room. Cool and damp work against it. The duration of durability is four or five seconds.

Did He Mean to Be Funny?

The editor of a newspaper whose policy it is to print many letters from correspondents in neighboring towns recently received such a communication from his representative in one place as to which he was not quite sure. He could not decide whether the correspondent was unconsciously humorous or whether he was endeavoring to comply with the standing instructions of the paper to "always be on the lookout for any little touch of humor that may brighten up our columns." The item read as follows: "Mr. Harry Spinks, the well known butcher of this place, has been losing sleep rapidly of late."—Lippincott's.

The Bayonet.

The bayonet was due to the fortunate inspiration of a Basque soldier, who, when he and his regiment, having expended their ammunition, were driven to buy on a mountain ridge near Bayonne, suggested that they should fix the long knives with which they were armed into the market barrels and charge the enemy. This device, which was followed with complete success, was the means of introducing the weapon to the notice of military Europe.

Remmed by a Shark. The strangest shark story which ever came to the writer's ears was of a shark that charged a steamer. This was in Queen Charlotte's sound, and an account of the incident appeared in a Vancouver paper. The captain of the steamer, which was a small craft of only fifty tons or so, saw the shark on the surface on the port bow and could not resist the temptation of taking a shot at it with his rifle. He hit his mark, whereupon the monster, said to have been fully twenty feet in length, deliberately charged the steamer. The boat quivered from stem to stern, and the captain said afterward that it was like striking a rock. After this display of temper Master Shark had had enough of it and sank out of sight.—T. C. ### HIS HARDEST TASK.

The Bull the Matador Found It Most Difficult to Kill.

There is no description of a bullfight in Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott's book, "Sun and Shadow in Spain," but there is a record of a meeting with a matador in the studio of the court painter, Don Jose Villegas, and the ensuing conversation, a part of which revealed the bullfighter in an unexpectedly good light. It also makes plain the fundamental reason why Americans object to bullfights.

"How many bulls have you killed?" someone asked of the matador.

"In twenty-five years I have killed 3,500 bulls."

"Have you ever afraid?"

"I have been afraid many, many times. On those occasions I put my trust in my legs and ran as fast as I could."

"The bull, however, is the boldest of animals and the bravest. He never makes a cowardly attack from behind. He is so frank. He is terrible, though a man need never to face him when he comes into the ring pawing the earth and bellowing."

"Will you tell us about the bull that was the hardest of all to kill?"

"The matador's face changed. 'He was a white bull,' he said slowly, 'and he didn't want to fight. When he first came in he put his muzzle in my hand. He followed me about like a little dog. I led him with the cloak wherever I wanted to go. Yes, that was the hardest bull of all to kill.'"

NOTICE

Please do not ask us to publish obituaries free. All newspapers of any consequence charge for such matter. We gladly publish accounts of death immediately after they occur.—Editor.

DUKES.

Those on the sick list are: Mrs. Vernon Milburn, Holly Powers, Betty Hall and Bethford Basham.

Mrs. Mary Sapp, who has been quite ill for sometime, is able to be out again.

Messes. Norman and Herbert Shadwick, of Gatewood, were guests of Emmett Hall a few days last week.

Miss Pearl Johnson, of Oakton, Ky., is visiting friends and relatives at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Leck Campbell and children spent Sunday with Mrs. L. Newbury.

Cleora Rearden, wife and children, spent Sunday with her brother, Alonzo.

Miss Pearl Basham left Thursday for an extended visit to her sister, Mrs. Will Clark, at Elhiport.

Homer Tindle, Roy Sapp, Steve Powers and Jesse Burnett were in Haxwellville Wednesday.

Mrs. Anna Slaughter has returned to her home at Haxwellville after a few days visit with her daughter, Mrs. Mildred Nichols.

Mr. John Rearden, of Herbert, spent Saturday with his brother, Cleora Rearden.

Hilous Basham spent several days last week in Owensboro, visiting relatives.

Miss Jessie Wherry was in Cloverport Saturday shopping.

Sunday school every Sunday morning at 9 o'clock at the Cumberland Presbyterian church.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nugent, of Florida, spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marl Jarboe.

Wave Bowling and wife spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Bowling, of Roseville.

James Rowland and children spent Sunday with his brother-in-law, Dave Starks, of near Cloverport.

Words To Freeze The Soul.

"Your son has Consumption. His case is hopeless." The appalling words were spoken to Geo. R. Blevens, a leading merchant of Springfield, N. C. by two expert doctors—one a lung specialist. Then was shown the wonderful power of Dr. King's New Discovery. "After three weeks use," writes Mr. Blevens, "he was as well as ever. I would not take all the money in the world for what it did for my boy." Invaluable for coughs and colds, it is the safest, surest cure of desperate lung diseases on earth. 60c. and $1.00. Guarantees satisfaction. Trial bottle free. Severs Drug Store.

Newer Than Post Cards.

The newly overprinted picture postal has blossomed out in a new guise which is really worth while. It is made of fine white card of excellent quality, and instead of the usual picture on the back there is a selected quotation or motto beautifully printed and hand illustrated.

The postal is attractive enough to be given the dignity of a frame and would often solve the problem of a valuable gift, which represents small money value.

The conventional flower orders on some of the cards are exquisitely timed, and the selections chosen cover a large variety of subjects.

Up Before The Bar.

N. H. Brown, an attorney, of Pittsfield, Vt., writes: "We have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for years and find them such a good family medicine we wouldn't be without them." For chills, constipation, biliousness or a sick headache, these little wonders, sold at Severs Drug Store.

An Odd Test.

One clever housekeeper has learned to combat a pest which she has named the "piano" whose she kept in her kitchen a fine steel knitting needle, which was always in a high degree of polish.

As soon as the music came into the house she struck the needle lightly into the rim and drew it out in an upright position. If no drop adhered to the needle, she knew that the piano was in good condition. If a drop came out, she was careful how she handled with the pump on his next visit.

It is said that there is even a little water in milk not a drop of it will adhere to a needle so used.

Children especially like Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup as it tastes nearly as good as maple sugar. It not only heals irritation and allays inflammation, thereby stopping the cough, but it also moves the bowels gently and in that way drives the cold from the system. It contains no opiates. Sold by All Druggists.

THINK OF IT.

Think of it, more than 99 per cent of American farmers ignoring the American Society of Equity, that has given positive proof of the merits of its teaching on scientific marketing. Can not farmers see that the more their knowledge in producing increases, the more they will stand in need of knowledge of how to market what is produced? What would be the result if scientific farming caused the production, each year, of twice as much wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, etc., as the home and foreign markets could take? Poverty and misery would be the result. Prevent such results by learning crop regulation and controlled marketing.—Tobacco Tidings.

We hear most every body saying a good word for the roads. Whether the condition is due to the weather or the work they do not say. We think both should have credit and give a little more to the workers than the weather. There has been some good work done.

Just think of Cloverport being the great dumping point for all that vast coal field traversed by the new Madisonville road.

Gov. Willson has appointed Col. E. C. Robertson city Judge of Glendale. That good town to be congratulated.

Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to Andrew Driskell in his great affliction. Sorrows have not come singly to him.

It is generally conceded by those who have examined that the fruit crop is not hurt.

Better put in a big crop of corn along with a small crop of tobacco.

The tariff—well the Senate will fix it all right.

Corn at 80 cents is not bad for the farmer.

$100 Reward. $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces, of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for full testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, etc. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

CLIFTON MILLS.

Wind! wind! WIND!

Sunday School is progressing nicely.

Rev. J. S. J. Brar filled his regular appointment here and at Norton Valley Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Carter spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. John Carter.

Miss Alma Hardin of Lodi, spent Saturday night with Mrs. Lucy Kurtz, and attended church at Webster.

Mrs. E. J. Beauchamp is on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wright spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wright.

Frank Macey was the guest of Miss Arolee Haslam, Sunday.

The Misses Carter of Whitesville, Davies county, returned home Saturday accompanied by Alton and Miss Estelle Carter, after a visit to their sister, Mrs. Jesse Carter.

Mrs. Mary S. Rush spent the past week with her sister, Mrs. Dick Avitt, and was at the bedside of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Shelman, at the time of her death.

Menu of an African Hunting Party.

In addition to the groceries and canned provisions carried in their outfit the hunters in East Africa depend for fresh provisions on their guns. Water buck, zebra and elephant are said to be tough eating and are mostly taken of by the native porters, who keep elephant meat till it is quite high and gamey. Flounders like the best American beef, oxen, lambs and all game are edible and tender, but the delicacies of the East African Protectorate are the kilspringer and the dikdik mussels. Harbison is hard except the prime cut along the backbone. An ordinary meal on safari consists of unroast soup, dikdik cutlets, roast guinea fowl, curried venison and corn-flower pudding, with jam, washed down with tea or coffee—London Letter.

HAY BARN WRECKED.

The high wind of last week blew down a hay barn for Dennis Sheeran & Bro., a barn for G. A. Wright; blew the roof off the new store house at McQuady, and did much damage to other barns, fencing, out houses and timber in that section.

WEBSTER.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Crutcher went to West Point Monday.

Cliff Haddock was in Irvington Monday.

This is the town for big cattle, fine cattle and cattle that bring the top prices in any market.

Thomas McGavock has planted 25 acres of corn just a little ahead of all his neighbors.

Harry Norton is climbing to the top in the stock business. His recent purchase of fine heifers and steers from Geo. Lydian, and shipped to St. Louis was a stroke of enterprise in the stock business few dealers have ventured to take. It demonstrated one fact that our cattle rank among the best in the Western market and bring top prices.

Cliff Haddock has built a new addition to his store house.

Farmers are all busy plowing and getting ready for corn planting. They say their fields were never in so good condition for cultivation.

BIRTHDAY DINNER.

Little Miss Nellie Franklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cashman, of Union Star, was entertained Easter Sunday in honor of her first birthday. Several guests were present and a delightful dinner was served. One candle flickered on the table which was decorated with Easter flowers.

sonages closely connected with the powers existing. The investigation coming on, Custer was ordered to Washington to give testimony. This testimony adhered so strictly to the truth that it brought him into disfavor, and when he returned to his post he found that the command of the main expedition was taken from him and that he was assigned to his own regiment simply, while General

They had crossed the river at a point where they were concealed by a large ravine and got on Custer's flank, and so astute had been Chief Gall's arrangements that he found himself attacked in front and on all sides. Custer's first charge was successful until he saw the immensity of the village miles back from the Little Big Horn. Custer decided to take this as a signal point. He sounded the recall and tried to make this his hill. He had to turn his back while doing so. The Indians are never so brave as when they get stuck with their backs to them. On their retreat to the hill half of his men were killed. The rest took up positions, but the Indians, led by those skilled at killing so many of his men from the Little Big Horn up to the hill and the failure of Reno to attract the Indians continually coming down the Little Big Horn, almost all the fighting Indians concentrated on Custer and fought him to death.

Fighting desperately to gain a point of high ground, he was, however, compelled to dismount his men and act on the defensive. Unable to advance or retreat and probably unexpecting for reinforcements, which were actions of the diversion that the other commands would make. Steadfastly believing this from later Indian accounts, he fought bravely, but was expiring for reinforcements, which never came, but succeeded in keeping up the fight for some time. The Indians, well armed and in crested helmets, kept up a continuous and effective fire, while skirmishers and marksmen crawled through the grass, and shot at the soldiers. Reno, who was still lying on the hill, although they could hear the reports of firearms below, and notwithstanding the fact that the Indians had continued their appeals and that the echoing volleys cried for assistance remained there until all was silent, the Indians eventually gaining the hill.

Reno was then gallantly bandaged. Reno was kept unarmored by the savages until the arrival of General Terry and Gibbon's command, while on the second day he was killed by the Indians in an effort to cover their movements with smoke, and drew off. Afterward a visit to the battle scene told the story of Custer's death. The Indians were seen at least once during his duty and, though the ated, was not degraded. They al-died in the proper military formation.

Every officer has a name on every man's line. (Custer's body was found, and although all the others were mutilated or scalped, his body seemed to have been untouched except by his death wounds, this being a tribute from the savages for his courage and gallantry. His brother, Captain Tom, and his nephew, Captain Charles, were with a nephew, were among the slain, making an unusual family affliction.)
The bodies of all the officers were found, with the exception of Dr. Larrington, Porter, Harrington, and Stungles and some ten men. The latter were the only ones who were beheaded. It is not known whether they were captured and tortured or whether their bodies had been thrown into the quicksands near the headwaters of the river. It is not clear, the only certainty being that they were dead. Two hundred and twelve bodies were burned on the prairie. The number of men being two days 265 killed and 52 wounded, 50 per cent of the command!

A GENTLEMAN FROM MISSISSIPPI

there until I send for you. I must be alone with my children."

When Norton and Isham had left the house, Langdon turned sadly to the two children who had disgraced him.

"Can you understand?" he said. "Do you know what you've done to me?"

"What, father?" We've done nothing wrong?" protested Carolina.

"They told me it was perfectly legitimate," urged Randolph. "They said everybody—Penobly and Stevens and the rest—were in it, and Penobly is the boss of the senate."

"Yes, my boy," assented the old man, "but the leader in the senate, and that's the shameful part of all this—that a man of his high standing should set you so miserable an example."

Randolph Langdon was not a vicious man, not a youth who preferred or chose wrongdoing for the increased rewards it offered. He was at heart a chivalrous, straightforward, trusting southern boy who believed in the splendid traditions of his family and loved his father as a son should a parent having the qualities of the old hero.

At the time of the scandal, he had been a victim of Norton's wiles because of the congressman's position and persuasiveness, because this position of his young days had won his confidence and had not hesitated to distort the lady's idea of what was right and what was wrong.

Randolph began an indignant protest against his father's reproach when the senator cut him short.

"Don't you see?" said the senator. "I can understand these things because in the outside world and that they should believe your useless, foolish old father's word, but that they should be thought a tool for dishonest thieving by members of his own family is inconceivable."

"Randolph, my son, Carolina, my daughter, through all these generations the Langtons have been honorable. Your mother was a Randolph, and this from you! Oh, Carolina! And you, Randolph! How can you do this? How could you betray or seek to betray your father, who sees in you the image of your dear mother, who has gone?"

moisture in abundance when the plants are growing.

The Japanese love to grow these ferns in all sorts of odd shapes, such as houses, animals, wreaths, pagodas, boats and figures, but few except the ferns are imported.

The chief reason for failure to have the ferns green is that they are not given enough moisture and are kept in too hot rooms. It is well to immerse the baskets occasionally in a tub of tepid water and never let them dry out.

MAY MUSIC FESTIVAL.

Academy.

The second biennial May Music Festival, to be held in Louisville May 6, 7 and 8 at the First Regiment Armory, will give to the South the greatest musical event which it has ever enjoyed. A greater number of artists of international fame has been engaged than ever before, and the scope of the festival is of larger magnitude than anything hitherto undertaken. It has been announced, nevertheless, that prices for seats will be lower than before, so that the attendance is expected to break records.

THE JAPANESE FERN.

For Successful Growing the Plant Needs Plenty of Moisture.

Many persons who admire the Japanese ferns which do so well for some home gardeners and fall utterly for others know little of the character of the plant, thousands of which are imported each season.

The scientific name is Davallia indica, but it is a species of the haretfoot fern that is native to Japan. It has a creeping root which runs along the surface of the ground, and from it small, fibrous roots are thrown out as feeders.

These creeping root stocks, or rhizomes, are gathered by the Japanese and closely fastened over frames filled with sphagnum moss, which retains

Even the entering housewife has failed to find a method of keeping the dust off the window shades. It settles on the upper portion of the shade, being very persistent when the shade is pulled down. She lates to get at it with a duster, as that requires the aid of a stepladder to reach it. A Canadian inventor offers an excellent solution of the problem in the automatic duster for window shades shown in the accompanying illustration. The duster is constructed as a part of the

For Female Ills

You should take, for female ill, a medicine which acts on the female organs and functions.

Cardal is not a man's medicine. It is for women. Its pure, healing, curative vegetable ingredients, go direct to the woman's organs, relieve their pain and inflammation, and build up their strength.

AN UNWASHED PRINCE.

The Lesson That Ended His Kicks About Muddy Baths.

When Emperor William II. was a small boy had a strong objection to being washed in the morning, and his governess, having had some unpleasant experiences with him and being a little doubtful as to what she had better do, appealed to his father, the then Crown Prince Frederick. Frederick answered: "The next time he gives me any trouble on this score leave him alone to his own pleasure and report to me."

Naturally it was not long before the young prince refused to go through the purification process, and the governess followed the orders received.

Now, the boy had a little carriage and was very fond of driving out in the morning, and he generally ordered the coachman to go by way of the Brandenburg gate, as it amused and pleased him to see the soldiers in the barracks, just inside the gate, turn out and present arms as the heir to the empire passed their quarters. Accordingly on the morning of his disheveled appearance, the order was, "To the Brandenburg gate" and the carriage rolled rapidly thither. But what was the amazement and the rage of the princeling on arriving there to see no soldiers except those on guard, and they took not the slightest notice of him.

In a towering passion he ordered the coachman to return to the palace, where, rushing into his father's room, he complained of the indecent behavior of the guard and demanded their condemnation.

But his father only smiled and said in the gentlest voice: "Fuer ungewaschen prin wird niemals presentiert." ("An unwashed prince is never saluted").—Harpers' Weekly.

A Memorandum Weck.

The most memorable wreck in the history of the American coast was that of the bark Mexico, stranded on Hempstead beach, Long Island, early in the morning of Jan. 8, 1887. She carried 104 passengers and a crew of twenty men. Four passengers and four of the crew were saved by a surfboat from the beach under the command of Raynor Rock. But the rest of the crew were frozen to death, though the wreck was so close to the shore that their cries and even some of their words were plainly heard on the beach. It was the story of this wreck, as published throughout the nation, that led to the establishment of the United States life saving service.—Scrap Book.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is suspected, it is well to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys must, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root on the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you can't get any better.

Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You can get a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing for it or to Dr. Kilmer, Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and you will get the best of something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

A MANUFACTURED CLIMATE.

Methods of the Paris Market Gardeners are Creating Nature.

The gardeners of Paris get their products on the market weeks before the regular season for them. This forcing of nature is described by Ernest Poole in his new book, "The Secret is Simply This: The French market gardeners have manufactured a climate to suit them. As one observer has said: 'They have made a little corner of the earth a suburb of Paris.'

Some new prodigy of modern science, this? Not at all. Only enormous expense in money and in time. The gardens, wherever possible, are placed on land with a slope to the south and are well protected by walls on the north and east, walls built to reflect light as well as to give protection from the northeast winds.

The ground is practically covered with glass, not as in a greenhouse, but by glass frames in the open, "three light" frames of uniform size, 12 by 4 1/2 feet, and also by glass bells. These, too, are of a uniform size, about the size of a chamber bell, a little less than seventeen inches in diameter and from fourteen to fifteen inches high. The French call them cloches. You keep your seeds and young plants under these cloches, and you have them in over 10,000 glass bells in one two-acre plot in the suburbs of Paris.

A more recent innovation is the cloche of the milk can, which gives under the milk can a sort of a veritable steam heated boiler, but the essential difference, that the hot keeper here is desperately eager, not to keep seeds and young plants under these cloches, but to get them to leave on the earliest possible day.

A FIRE IN JAPAN.

The Victim Has Other Troubles Besides Loss of Goods.

An American missionary living in Japan recently lost a valuable thing. He described in an amusing way the police constables which his neighbors showered upon him. "We were detained in a waiting car," he says. "They were forced into our hands by sympathetic inquirers, friends offering aid and tradespeople soliciting orders. The conversation with each corner was somewhat as follows: 'You have lived here an honorable district,' says the friend. 'I have humbly come a great distance,' I reply. 'Please honor me by accepting my invitation to dine with me,' and the conversation goes on until the friend has said, 'I have done an unkind thing,' I say. 'I am overcome that you should have come to call on me for no purpose,' I say. 'You are very much pleased to have me here,' says the friend. ### PROF. DRISKELL'S SON DEAD.

Reed, the eldest of Prof. Driskell's children, died Friday, April 9, after a severe illness of three days, though for a month he had been ailing and felt the approaching crisis. Reed was fourteen years of age on the eleventh of November. His death follows closely after that of his mother, who died on January 30th. Reed Driskell was a good boy, obedient, bright and was well liked. He was faithful in his work, in school and out, and as a Sunday school pupil he had a good record. He knew that his life was short and he feared not to go. The funeral was at Ephesus church, near Harard, at ten o'clock Saturday morning, the funeral services being conducted by the Rev. Cline. Mr. Driskell and his other five orphan children, four boys and one girl, one being an infant born just before the mother's death in January, have the sympathy of the entire community.

The Harard Normal was moved to Hardinsburg Monday, with Mr. Arthur Ater, one of the best and most successful teachers, in charge for the time. Mr. Driskell will resume his duties after a short time if his health permit.

The Board of Education has united the County High school with the Public school here and both will be taught in the Public school building this year. The principal has not yet been secured, but active negotiations are being conducted toward that end. Supt. Pile, Miss Willie Chambliss and Miss Margaret Beard have been tendered the other places for the term of nine months.

Mr. B. F. Beard and Mrs. Percy M. Beard returned Thursday from an extended trip to Florida.

Editor Moorman was in Louisville a few days last week.

Miss Amanda Deane, of Glendene, was the guest of Mrs. Blanche Read a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Robertson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Percy M. Beard Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Beard went to Burgin last week to visit Mr. and Mrs. Allen S. Edelen.

Herbert Beard attended the Kentucky Horse Breeders Association in Louisville last week.

Mrs. Jas. H. Gardner and Miss Isabel and Master James Howard were visitors at Wm. Downs Sunday.

T. C. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lewis went to Louisville Saturday to spend a few days with Mr. Lewis' daughter, who is at the Sacred Heart Academy.

Miss Zoa Mattingly delightfully entertained a few of her friends Friday night, it being the anniversary of her birth.

News has been received here of the death of Master Allen Owen Kincheol, eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. James Kincheol, of Los Angeles, California. Mr. Kincheol has also been critically ill, but was able to be taken from the infirmary to his home last week.

W. S. Ball, of Frankfort, came down Saturday for a few days. The Republican political pot is put to simmering by his arrival.

Preparations are being made to have Children's Day at the M. E. church South, the third Sunday in May.

Miss Veronica Teaff went to Louisville last week for a visit of several days.

REPRESENTATIVE BUSINESS MEN

Write An Open Letter About Pe-ru-na.

Hon. Mears, of Marshfield, Vt., has represented his district in the legislature, and held the office of superintendent of schools.

Mr. Convers, of Hot Springs, among other business relations, is president of the Cold Storage Ice and Coal Co., of that city.

Mr. W. H. Mears, Marshfield, Vt., Town Clerk, Representative in Legislature '94-'95. Has also held the office of Superintendent of Schools.

"I have used your Peruna and am happy to say that I have received much benefit. I have been troubled with catarrh for many years, and have never found benefit from other medicine. But since using your Peruna I have been quite relieved from my trouble.
"I can most heartily and sincerely recommend Peruna to any one who is afflicted as I was, with the sure expectation that they will find relief."

Mr. C. G. Convers.

Colds and Indigestion.

Mr. C. G. Convers, President Cold Storage Ice and Coal Co., Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

"I had been troubled with a very serious case of catarrh for a number of years. Having tried many prescriptions by good physicians, I found myself no better.

"On the advice of a friend who had used Peruna with good results, I purchased a bottle. The results were so good that I continued using it. I have perhaps in the past three years used a dozen bottles, which have kept me from the trying troubles of catarrh. I am never without a bottle of Peruna in my house. One always gets relief from colds and indigestion if you have Peruna."

Catarrh in Various Forms.

Rev. J. B. McLaughlin, 416 5th St., N. W., Washington, D. C., an attorney from Little Rock, Ark., now residing in Washington, writes:

"Catarrhal complaint in all its various forms is so general that the public should be informed of a remedy for the same. It is undeniable that Peruna is a cure for that disease. From experience and general knowledge of its beneficial use

Hon. R. S. Tharin, Attorney at Law and counsel for Anti-Trust League, writes from Pennsylvania Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C., as follows:

"Having used Peruna for catarrhal disorders, I am able to testify to its great remedial excellence and do not hesitate to give it my emphatic endorsement and earnest recommendation to all persons affected by that disorder. It is also a tonic of great usefulness."

THE SMART SET FOR MAY.

"It is Child's Godmother," the complete novel in the May Smart Set, is from the pen of Francis Pusey Gosch. It is a tale of the reconstructed South, a romance of the ward of a governor and the long-exiled son of an old war-impaired family, and presents a beautiful picture of the winning of a wife's love after marriage.
